

I feel they are making a big mistake if this is passed. I don't know for a fact but have heard that other countries have tried it without success and dropped it due to interference. I know people who know this stuff plus the University Electrical Engineering who say this is not a good thing. Hope FCC rethinks this over and change their minds..

Erv